Mr. Porter:

I am responding to Warning Letter 494623 and your response to my response letter dated Nov. 27, 2017. As I previously stated IronMag Labs discontinued Super-DMZ 4 in mid-2015 and we do not currently make that product, nor do we make any products containing Ostarine or any other SARMs. We do not have any Super-DMZ 4 in our possession and we have not had any since November 2015 when the last units were sold to a retailer.

I have included our 3 invoices from (b) (4) ; who manufactured our Super-DMZ 4 back in 2015. I was mistaken in my first response. After digging up the invoices we had a total of (b) (4) units of Super-DMZ 4 made (previously I stated (b) (4) , and there were actually (b) (4)). I have also included all invoices of Super-DMZ 4 that we sold to online retailers which was a total of (b) (4) units with the last shipment being 11-12-2015 to (b) (4)

After reading your response letter I started doing some Google searching because I honestly had no idea anyone would still have Super-DMZ 4 left since we have been selling version 5 since early 2016. I found four online stores that seemed to be actively selling Super-DMZ 4 so I contacted them all:

- FortressSupplements.com
- IconSupplements.com
- SupplementFusion.com
- DlackDiamondSupplements.com

Two of the retailers said they actually did not have any left, only Super-DMZ 5 and that was just an old page. And two others did have a small amount in stock and they agreed to ship what they have left back to us for a store credit, and once we receive it we will dispose of it properly. As of me writing this letter on 12-12-2017, I do not know of any online retailers currently selling Super-DMZ 4.

Sincerely,
